WEST CHICAGO, IL — Tornado Industries, a leading manufacturer of professional cleaning equipment, has just opened its new office in West Chicago, Illinois, to kick off 2010.

The office is located about 30 minutes from Chicago and the company's new address is:

Tornado Industries

333 Charles Court

West Chicago, IL 60185

Previously, the 80-year-old company's headquarters and factory were in Chicago. However, most of the company's manufacturing moved to St. Louis, Missouri, last year.

The new office is designed to primarily house the company's general business operations, sales and customer service departments, and marketing division.

"With the factory's move to St. Louis, we had a lot of unused and unnecessary space in our old location," says Jolynn Kennedy, marketing manager for Tornado. "The new site better fits our needs, is much more modern, and [is] more conducive to our core business and new direction."
